Therefore, Mr Stefan de Goey was added to the sales team as International Sales Manager. Stefan has started his new position last summer and he initially has been focussing on learning the Hendor product range, learning about the applications and getting to know key Hendor staff as well as key customers and distributors.

In his new role at Hendor, Stefan will be responsible for continuing and growing Hendor's presence and business within the current markets, but will also have a strong focus on new markets and applications. Stefan (1968) is educated in Aerospace Engineering and Business Management. After attaining his diploma's Stefan joined GKN Fokker Landing Gear, dedicating himself to the manufacturing and engineering areas of landing gears. Subsequently, he changed to Bosch Rexroth, where he moved-up from engineering to international project sales.
